Centrim Recaps December Projects; Looks Forward to New Year.

Centrim Electric has had a very busy December, completing four large-scale projects and beginning work on two brand new ventures.

Completed December projects include a brand new Walgreens on Tompkins Avenue in Staten Island, New York; a multi-family residential building on 7th Street in Brooklyn; the East Harlem Health & Mental Hygiene Center in Manhattan, and a shopping center on Page Avenue in Staten Island.

Projects that have begun in December include high voltage incoming work for the Chait House and a multi-tenant 80,000 square foot retail fit-out at 130 Delancey Street in Manhattan.

As 2009 comes to a close, Centrim maintains a positive outlook for the coming year. According to George Trimarche, President of Centrim, the future looks bright. "There are many projects we are anticipating to become funded and come to fruition in the first quarter of 2010," says Trimarche. "New construction is at a standstill, but rental building owners can't build projects fast enough and big enough to keep up with the demand."
